Treat this as incomplete evidence, not a negative signal

The connected Stripe observations did not include enough customer-level revenue detail to calculate concentration metrics confidently.

Investor read

Green/neutral: no refunds or disputes were detected in the selected reporting window. That is a positive operational signal, but it still does not prove product-market fit or durable revenue quality.

Verification Methodology

How the packet was generated, what evidence it references, and the limits investors should

How data was verified

- Connected Stripe account verified through read-only API access.
- Report generated from a timestamped window and tied to the selected startup.
- Integrity hash computed from the startup, time window, metrics, references, and generation timestamp.
- No write access, charging capability, or account modification rights were used.
